Go to <https://www.disasterassistance.gov/> and click on the green 'Check Status' button to create an online account. Use the same email you provided when you applied for assistance. You'll be emailed a PIN you can use to log in. If you applied for assistance online or via the FEMA app, then you already have a Disaster Assistance Account.

Keep your Mailing Address Updated

- Survivors who won't have access to their homes for an extended time are encouraged to set up a temporary mailing address with the U.S. Postal Service. To change your address, go online to USPS.com, call 800-275-8777 (800-ASK-USPS) or pick up a Change-of-Address form at any post office.

Apply for Red Cross Assistance Even if You've Applied for FEMA Assistance

- The Red Cross is providing financial assistance, temporary housing in hotels, mental health assistance and other services to people, including survivors who are not eligible for some FEMA programs. In addition to applying for FEMA assistance, survivors are encouraged to register with the Red Cross at 800-RED-CROSS (800-733-2767) or speak to a representative at any Disaster Recovery Center.
  - To learn more about Red Cross efforts, click <https://www.redcross.org/about-us/news-and-events/news/2023/red-cross-helps-as-wildfires-burn.html>

Be Alert to Fraud After a Disaster

- Disaster survivors should be aware that con artists and criminals may try to obtain money or steal personal information through fraud or identity theft after a disaster. In some cases, thieves try to apply for FEMA assistance using names, addresses and Social Security numbers they have stolen from survivors. Click here for more information: <https://www.fema.gov/fact-sheet/beware-fraud-and-scams>

FEMA Assistance Provides for Basic Needs

- FEMA's Individuals and Households Program is only one source of disaster funding. It can lend a helping hand to recover but it cannot compensate for everything that was lost. If approved, you may receive a limited amount of FEMA disaster assistance to make repairs to your primary home and/or repair and replace essential personal property when the damage is not covered by insurance.
  - Eligible survivors may be approved for a one-time immediate payment of $700 per household, which can be used for life-saving and life-sustaining items like food, water or medical supplies. If you have applied for FEMA assistance, a Housing Assistance specialist will contact you if you're eligible for this grant. Learn about the difference between Critical Needs Assistance and Individual Assistance: <https://twitter.com/FEMARegion9/status/1698030982136291476>

Understanding Your FEMA Letter

- Maui residents who applied for FEMA assistance will receive a determination letter. It is important to read the letter carefully because it will include the amount of assistance FEMA may provide and information on the appropriate use of disaster assistance funds. The letter will also explain your application status and advise how to ask FEMA to reconsider its decision.

Renters Can Apply for FEMA Assistance

- Renters in Maui whose homes and property were damaged by the fires can apply for FEMA disaster assistance, which is available to renters, including students, as well as homeowners. Federal grants can help pay for temporary housing. The initial rental grant is for a one-month or two-month period and can be reviewed for additional assistance. Learn more: <https://www.fema.gov/fact-sheet/renters-can-apply-fema-assistance-2>

You Talk – FEMA Listens

- FEMA wants to deliver disaster assistance to survivors as quickly as possible. One way you can help speed the process is to stay in touch with FEMA. Update FEMA immediately when your situation changes, particularly your housing. Be sure to let FEMA know when your address or phone number changes and keep your appointments with FEMA representatives or, get in touch if you can't.

- Call as often as necessary. FEMA may need to contact you and missing or wrong information could delay the delivery of assistance. You will need the nine-digit number assigned to you when you applied. Maybe you didn't answer the phone because you didn't recognize the number or the Caller ID showed "unknown number." Call the FEMA Helpline at 800-621-3362 to learn if you missed FEMA's call.

Common Reasons for FEMA's Eligibility Decisions

- You may have received a letter saying you are ineligible for disaster assistance because someone at the same address has already received help from FEMA. Typically, FEMA allows only one applicant per household or address to apply for Housing Assistance. Maui applicants can appeal this early decision by sending FEMA a signed letter to explain your living situation. Learn more: <https://www.fema.gov/fact-sheet/common-reasons-femas-eligibility-decisions>
  - If FEMA says you are ineligible for assistance because someone in your household has already applied, you can appeal. Typically, FEMA allows only one applicant per household. For Lahaina survivors, everyone under one roof can apply. To appeal, send FEMA a signed letter explaining you lived at the address during the disaster and your application represents a separate household at the same address as the original applicant at the address.

How to Appeal FEMA's Decision

- An appeal is a written request to FEMA to review your application for disaster assistance. It is also an opportunity to provide new or additional information not previously submitted that may affect FEMA's decision. You may appeal any FEMA decision about your application for Individual Assistance. Submit your appeal to FEMA within 60 days of the date on the determination letter. Call the FEMA Helpline at 800-621-3362 for more information. Learn more: <https://www.fema.gov/fact-sheet/how-appeal-femas-decision-10>
