Key Messages

- There are 6,516 wildfire survivors housed in 33 hotels on Maui and O'ahu, and FEMA is working closely with the American Red Cross and the state to get people into more suitable temporary housing.
- Survivors who are eligible for federal assistance are encouraged to stay in touch with FEMA. Don't miss out on available assistance you may need. If your insurance does not cover all your losses, or your settlement is delayed, you may be eligible for assistance for your unmet needs.
- If you receive a letter from FEMA saying you are ineligible for assistance, don't panic. Your application may have stopped processing because something was missing. This is your opportunity to appeal FEMA's decision. An appeal is a written request to FEMA to review your application for disaster assistance. It is also a chance to provide new or additional information that may affect FEMA's decision.
 - You have 60 days from the date on your determination letter to appeal a FEMA decision.
 - Call the FEMA Helpline at 800-621-3362 for answers to your questions.

Housing Options

- FEMA has approved two direct housing programs to help Maui County survivors move out of hotels and into more permanent housing. Under Direct Lease, FEMA leases residential properties for use by survivors. Under the Multi-Family Lease and Repair program, FEMA will arrange to lease and repair rental buildings with two or more units in exchange for owners agreeing to house eligible applicants.

- Maui County, the State of Hawai'i, FEMA and the private sector are seeking owners of rental units suitable for families and individuals for both programs. The units are offered for up to 18 months, until Feb. 10, 2025.
- FEMA is also actively seeking property owners here in Hawai'i who want to temporarily lease their vacation homes or other units to FEMA for use by disaster survivors. Interested property owners may send inquiries to: FEMA-DR4724-HI-Contracting@fema.dhs.gov.
- If you received initial rental assistance from FEMA, you may be eligible for continued rental assistance. To request an Application for Continued Temporary Housing Assistance or get help completing the form, call the FEMA Helpline at 800-621-3362.
- Temporary Assistance to Needy Families, a program managed by the state Department of Human Services and Maui Economic Opportunity, offers cash assistance to families affected by the wildfires. Eligible families must have at least one dependent child and experienced property loss or damage, and a reduction of earnings or employment as a direct result of the fires. Families are encouraged to apply first to FEMA before applying to the Maui relief program. To apply, call 808-243-4316; email NRST@meoinc.org or visit www.meoinc.org.

Non-Citizens May Apply for Disaster Assistance

- FEMA is committed to helping all eligible individuals recover from the wildfires, including U.S. citizens, non-citizen nationals and qualified non-citizens. Survivors who do not qualify for federal assistance may still call the FEMA Helpline at 800-621-3362 for referrals to other sources of aid. To be eligible for FEMA's Individuals and Households Program, you must have had losses or damage from the wildfires on Maui but you can apply from anywhere you currently reside.

FEMA's Other Needs Assistance

- FEMA's Other Needs Assistance program offers financial support for uninsured and underinsured personal property losses, medical and dental expenses and essential disaster-related needs. If you have been unable to receive monetary resources from insurance or voluntary agencies, this program may be able to replace essential personal and household items you need. For more information, visit <https://www.fema.gov/fact-sheet/guide-femas-other-needs-assistance>.

It reduces dust when the soil is disturbed.
